I don't understand the explanation for how to use the compass... I got the same result for two real estate properties...0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. One of my favorite resources on the topicBy LazyteaExactly as described - this is a master's course. Very well organized, highly detailed, lots of illustrations and photos. One of my favorite resources on the topic.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A great book to learn feng shuiBy H. K.It is indeed a great course book, not something casual for the coffee table with pretty pictures. I am in the process of working through the course material and it has lots of good information. One of my better book buys!

This fully illustrated, comprehensive workbook is designed primarily for homeowners, renters, architects, and business owners who want to put feng-shui to practical personal use to choose a home, build a house, select an office, or find a retail space. Real estate agents, interior designers, and architects will also find it useful as a reference manual. The text and exercises proceed in systematic fashion from basic principles to specific projects, covering the following lessons: Evaluating the landscape and external environment by using the techniques of the Landform School Using the geomantic compass to chart patterns of energy within a building Planning the usage of space Matching occupants to a house Deciding on the placement of furniture Improving the feng-shui of a building with countermeasures, enhancers, and renovations Building a new house Choosing or designing an apartment, business suite, or retail space

"Eva comes from a proud and strong lineage of feng-shui masters, and she has written a book that is in a class of its own. This is the definitive textbook for all genuine feng-shui enthusiasts. It is almost like a how-to manual, successfully condensing authentic feng-shui theories into useful, applicable concepts, with do-it-yourself feng-shui projects. Read this book. Then read it again. And again. You will find a new nugget of information each time. Congratulations to Eva on a book well written." Grand Master Yap Cheng Hai
