Steven Hampton : Affordable Security: A Do-It-Yourself Guide to Protecting Your Home, Business, and Automobile before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Affordable Security: A Do-It-Yourself Guide to Protecting Your Home, Business, and Automobile:

3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. sellsworthBy Steven EllsworthI was thinking about installing a security system and just generally improving the security of the house. I purchased about three different books on home security. This book was by far and away the best of any of the books that I have found even though it is six years old. The author gives practical and specific recommendations rather than just telling you what is out there. I felt that I went from knowing very little about home security to, at least, having a reasonable knowledge of options and recommendations. Very good book! 2 of 3 people found the following review helpful. The best book of its kind...truly unique and helpful

This book is out of print, and has been for several years. That, coupled with very high demand for it, has resulted in some insane prices on the resale market. This book is a thorough encyclopedia of various tools and methods to secure your home, your car, and your possessions. I have searched far and wide for help in this area, and finally settled on this book. If you have a chance, even at the fairly high prices you see, I strongly recommend you get a copy. I am not disappointed, and you won't be either.
Edit 12/5/12: yes, this book continues at a very high price. I have yet to find anything else on the market like it. Just the best overall security advice I have seen to help the average homeowner/non-professional person who wants to beef up one's personal security.

Identify the holes in your security and get practical solutions, from simple but little-known tricks of the trade for securing doors, windows, yards and more to effective lighting solutions to the ins and outs of alarm systems and motion detectors. You can't afford not to get this eye-opening book.

About the Author
Steven Hampton became interested in locks and electronics at an early age. At 14 he acquired a set of U.S. Air Force electronic training manuals and began building various transistor circuits by scalping radios and junkyard TVs. At 17 he was making his own lockpicks and was considered a master lockpicker, and by the time he was 18 he had invented the magnetic padlock, which is still on the market today. After a stint in the navy, he studied digital electronics and worked in many technical fields. He also became interested in the martial arts, studying Tibetan White Crane kung fu, jujitsu and wing chun.
