Nice interiors from designers world wide.By A CustomerNice images of interior design as presented and rendered by designers from around the world. Some of the interior work was a little over the top and therefore not suitable to everyday living.

This volume aims to demystify the interiors industry and recognizes the talents of modern designers. A showcase for the Andrew Martin Award for International Interior Designer of the Year, it reviews the work of entrants from around the world. The interiors featured range from hotels and presidential suites to mud huts and a teepee. Interviews provide an insight into each designer's style and philosophy.
