This book helps you create beautiful California-like gardens in the small, less nature-kissed neighborhoods of New England towns and cities.I created an ever-growing privacy fence and noise muffler - in less than one year, and about $1,400 - an absolutely beautiful 50' x 6' x 4' (LxWxH) privacy berm filled with Rhododendrons, blooming crabapple trees, cotoneaster and other perennial and annual show stoppers! The dirt berm added the INSTANT GARDEN HEIGHT, so the young trees pay off now and will continue to become more beautiful.There is no doubt in my mind that this investment has helped my life in every facet; you can imagine how free beauty makes people feel.I found the book used at The Northshire bookstore in Manchester, Vermont. I am now buying 2 copies on --one for my new neighbor (who I hope will get into it) and one for my hairdresser who hasn't stopped hearing about it from me. I am not parting with my copy EVER! Thank You Dr. Gilmore

The book Beauty All Around You has the subtitle How to Create Large Private Low-Maintenance Gardens, Even on Small Lots and Small Budgets. This book is no substitution for Gardens Are for People by Thomas D. Church. I expected more from the book that was provided. The book for the most part is how to build a berm, where to place it and a plant glossary. It addresses suburban lots of 1 acre or smaller and does little to provide aesthetic recommendations, just visual blocking using berms. The book contains just 12 color photos.
