Gene Bauer : Botanical Serigraphs: The Gene Bauer Collection before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Botanical Serigraphs: The Gene Bauer Collection:

Having been to the Daffodil Garden in Running Springs - several times - and having enjoyed the beautiful display of blooming bulbs, one time with my sister, who was visiting from Germany - it was always a delightful and rare experience. Later, I was heartbroken, when I heard about the Fire and the Bauer's loss of their home. How providential, that Jack Dangermond of the renowned Redlands company ESRI, along with others from his firm, took an interest in Gene Bauer's work, the Serigraphs, a labor of love, spanning over many years. The Serigraphs express Gene Bauer's love for California's native flora and I am so grateful that they were preserved in this fashion, this beautiful book, for many to enjoy. I treasure my copy. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Beautiful book in fantastic condition By Jeanscreen Beautiful book in fantastic condition. I'm delighted. (And Gene Bauer is a "Genius" -- very talented and knowledgeable about plants and art!) 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By David W. Stevens For those interested in art and plants. Lovely book.

Botanical Serigraphs: The Gene Bauer Collection features serigraphs and narrative text from handcrafted, limited-edition booklets about arboreta and gardens throughout the state of California. As an avid member of the California Garden Club in the seventies, Bauer dedicated herself to creating a series of booklets to capture the experience of touring gardens found in the club's districts. With a mission to better acquaint people with gardens in the area, Bauer created sixty-one issues of these booklets, which she mailed to club members. Botanical Serigraphs was made possible because original recipients and collectors of the booklets returned them to Gene after her personal collection of booklets was destroyed in a 1997 wildfire. Her attention to detail and keen sense for the extraordinary makes this book an excellent gift for artists and garden enthusiasts alike.

About the Author Gene Bauer is perhaps best known as the daffodil lady for her elaborate daffodil garden. For more than 50 years, Bauer artistically "painted the hillside" with more than one million daffodil bulbs, opening their land in Running Springs, California, to the public each spring for thousands to enjoy. Bauer served as golden native chairman (1972-1974), and arboreta and botanical gardens chairman (1976-1978), of the California Garden Clubs, Inc.
