Charles Faudree : Charles Faudree Interiors before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Charles Faudree Interiors:

There was no one quite like Charles Faudree, and I'm an avid fan of his style. I just don't think this book captures his best work. Many of the photos are repeated from other books although this was not the last one written. Overall, the rooms seem too cluttered and fussy and not in character with his style. His rooms normally evoke a feeling of warmth and an invitation to come in and sit down. Sadly, not this time. My other books from him are lovingly used, with turned down corners and notes tucked inside, but this book is one I'll leave on the shelf.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Jeri Tornebyexcellent book6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. another treasured Charles Faudree book for my personal libraryBy Eileen S.I found this book to be exactly on par with Charles Faudree's earlier books - his use of saturated color, grand rooms with a charming and cozy feel, luscious fabrics, accessories of beauty and occasional whimsy - all his signature work is there. Gorgeous photography as always and I love the shots of rooms from above and the format of 'sketches' of rooms preceding the actual photos. And, as always, his beloved dog is in many of the room photos - not because he was placed there but because he loves to be in the thick of things! If you have enjoyed Charle's previous books, you will love this one too. I find myself picking it up again and again.

Arguably America's most beloved designer of Country French interiors, Charles Faudree has been working his magic on homes domestically and internationally for more than thirty-five years. His fourth book, Charles Faudree Interiors, continues to reveal his versatility in classic and international styles, and showcases his newest signature country French interior-his own new cabin nestled in the Oklahoma countryside-along with a tropical island retreat, a chic metropolitan high-rise, and homes done up in Georgian, contemporary and ranch high style. Here, in his personal, engaging manner, Faudree walks us through the challenges and successes of his newest designs that prove French Country can keep its traditional spirit and still be modern, surprising and edgy. Charles Faudree was named one of America's top 100 designers in 2002. He is often featured in design magazines, including Traditional Home, Southern Living and House Beautiful. His previous books, Charles Faudree's French Country Signature, Charles Faudree's Country French Living, and Florals and Interiors have been widely lauded. While designing homes and creating books, Charles maintains a retail shop in Tulsa, and has launched a fabric line, The Charles Faudree Collection, for Vervain. He lives in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Jenifer Jordan is a Texas-based photographer whose work has been featured in Traditional Home, Renovation Style, House Beautiful, Southern Accents and Veranda, as well as in two of Faudree's previous books, Charles Faudree's French Country Signature and Charles Faudree's Country French Living.

Lighter and brighter in Tulsa The home of Gayle and Frank Eby was originally built by John Duncan Forsyth, a well-known architect of the 1920s who left his mark on many Tulsa homes and even Southern Hills Country Club. Mr. Forsyth created a wonderful family home, and the Ebys have worked to make it even more gracious and inviting.
